

MATING

The courtship technique of the male Galapagos tortoise is uncompromising. Having located a suitable female, he rams her into submission, nipping her legs to further immobilize her. He then climbs onto her back to mate.