

URBAN HUNTER

The peregrine falcon is one of the most adaptable of all birds of prey. It feeds mainly on other birds, which it usually catches in midair. City rooftops and ledges provide an excellent vantage point for the falcon to pick out its quarry before launching into a high-speed downward dive, known as a stoop.