

WHY GROW YOUR OWN

There is nothing quite like pulling your own carrots from the ground or eating juicy plums straight from the tree. More and more people are discovering the satisfaction of growing their own, and it's easy to see why—it's not only rewarding, but it can be cost-effective, eco-friendly, and organic, too. Whatever your plot size, whether you have a large backyard or a windowbox, you will be able to grow crops yourself—your options are only as limited as your imagination.
