

overhaul of railway policy and management and later led to the appointment of the Acworth Committee in 1920 (see Change of Power).

“Are railways everything and mass education nothing? Is improved sanitation nothing?”

GK GOKHALE, NATIONALIST LEADER AND MEMBER OF THE IMPERIAL LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, IN HIS 1906 BUDGET SPEECH

▲ The Indian Sappers who were a part of the British Indian Army of the Raj were sent to the Mesopotamian front. Here the Sappers constructed broad-gauge tracks across the desert to help facilitate the British campaign against the Ottoman Empire.