

▲ Sir Malcolm Hailey, became the governor of the United Provinces (1928–34) after serving as the governor of Punjab. He was awarded the Order of Companion of the Indian Empire (CIE) by the Crown for his services to the British Raj.

Other financial reforms

The Acworth Committee Report's recommendations also led to the formation of a separate Government audit wing, headed by the auditor general. The wing examined and reported on the finances maintained by the railway's Accounts Department. The new professionally organized Indian Railway Accounts Service (IRAS) managed the finances.

Simultaneously, a series of reforms were introduced to incorporate commercial principles into railway finance. These included the creation of a Railway Reserve Fund and a Depreciation Fund, and the formation of revised rules for capital and revenue expenditure. It also covered the establishment of a clearing house to facilitate interrailway financial transactions and the revamping of the railway statistical system. These
