

legislative measures relating to the railways in independent India. The topics covered include the role of the Central Government vis-à-vis Zonal Railways, appointment and duties of a chief commissioner of railways safety, provisions for executing necessary works, rules for opening of the railways, constitution of Railway Rates Tribunal, regulations for the carriage of passengers and goods, railway accidents and liabilities of the administration with respect to victims, and offences and penalties, among other issues.