

▲ The Lahore station was one of the first railway stations built immediately after the Revolt. It was designed to provide a safe haven for the railway staff in the event of another attack.