

▲ Thomas Brassey, a prominent British railway engineer and contractor, was the brains behind the construction of many railways across the world.