

Dogs

Working dogs

Great Dane makes an excellent family pet.

Mastiff existed in Britain in ancient Roman times.

Boxer is a lively and affectionate dog.

German shepherd dog is intelligent and enthusiastic.

Dalmatian, used to deter highwaymen in the 1800s.

St Bernard exists in wire- and smooth-haired forms.

Up to 60 cm (24 in) tall

Terriers

Coat comes in a variety of colours.

Airedale terrier is the largest terrier breed.

Border terrier was first bred for hunting rats.

Staffordshire bull terrier is loyal and devoted.

Tail carried upright

Boston terrier originated in Boston, USA, in the 1800s.

Smooth fox terrier is alert and tireless.

Parson Jack Russell terrier has a mostly white coat.

Long body for its height

Yorkshire terrier is a small but spirited guard dog.

Cairn terrier has a shaggy, water-resistant coat.

Australian terrier is capable of tackling a snake.

Herding dogs

Deep muscular chest

Hair falls over the eyes

Australian cattle dog has great stamina.

Border collie is an outstanding sheepdog.

Old English sheepdog has a thick, shaggy coat.

Companion dogs

"Papillon" refers to the shape of the ears.

Large head

Papillon is named after the French for "butterfly".

Pekingese has a flattened face, with a broad nose.

Bulldog is a strong but affectionate dog.

Thick, harsh-textured coat

Miniature poodle, world's most popular dog in the 1950s.

Cavalier King Charles spaniel, bred in 1900s.

Pug has a soft coat and a curled tail.

Hounds

Slightly curved tail

Long body and short legs

Strong back

Basset hound is an agile and single-minded hunter.

Dachshunds can be long-, smooth-, or wire-haired.

Whippet was bred in the 1800s for racing.

Muscular neck

Rhodesian ridgeback has a ridge of hair on its back.

Afghan hound needs plenty of exercise.

Greyhound is built for speed.

Powerful hindquarters

Lurcher: individuals vary considerably within the breed.

Saluki, fast and agile, was once used to hunt gazelles.

Irish wolfhound is the tallest dog in the world.

71-90 cm (28-35 in) tall

Sporting dogs

Obvious stop on the muzzle

Water-resistant coat

Pointer is agile, athletic, and needs much exercise.

English springer spaniel is one of the largest spaniels.

Curly-coated retriever is one of the oldest breeds.