

Houses and homes

Permanent homes

Troglodyte houses hollowed out of rock, eastern Turkey

Stilts protect occupants from vermin and floods.

Wooden stilt-house with thatched roof, Malaysia

Adobe house built from sun-dried clay bricks, New Mexico, USA

Thick walls and few windows keep house cool.

Decorated mud house, Saudi Arabia

Farmhouse covered with turf and built into hillside, Iceland

Turf provides insulation.

Stone-built palace

Tall outcrop of sandstone

Small windows help to conserve heat.

Wooden house on stilts, Canada

Sloping roof to shed snow.

Wooden log house, Switzerland

Wooden log cabin with overhanging roof, Wyoming, USA

Stone cottage with thatched roof, Donegal, Ireland

Large roof space for storage.

Wooden cross-braces add strength.

Wood-framed house with brick panels, Germany

Dormer windows provide extra space on upper floor.

Wooden house with clapboard panels, USA

Wooden panels give extra protection against weather.

Temporary and movable homes

Gypsy horse-drawn caravan, UK

Dome of compressed snow.

Inuit igloo built from blocks of snow and ice, Canada

Tunnel entrance

Shepherd's cabin woven from bundles of straw, Spain

Thick layer of felt covers the entrance.

Yurt made from layers of felt lashed to a circular frame, Mongolia

Wooden poles bound at top into a cone shape.

Tepee made of buffalo hides over poles, Arizona, USA