

BEFORE SCIENCE BEGAN

2.5 MYA–799 CE

Starting with early experiments to make tools and use fire, humans gradually learned how to control, explore, and understand their surroundings by developing techniques in astronomy, medicine, and mathematics.