

SYMBOL OF DEFIANCE

St. Paul's Cathedral stands unscathed amid the smoke of burning buildings after a Luftwaffe raid on the City of London. The British people took what comfort they could from such symbols of defiance during the dark months of the Blitz in 1940–41.

