

A SPORTING RACE

Stunt pilot Lincoln Beachey battles it out with race-car driver Barney Oldfield over a racetrack in Davenport, Ohio, in 1914. A former balloon pilot, Beachey — who was renowned for his repertoire of loops, spirals, and dives — is shown flying a Curtiss Beachey Special. Events such as these helped establish in the public's consciousness the versatility and practicality of the airplane.

