

DOGFIGHT OVER THE WESTERN FRONT

This painting shows a de Havilland D.H.4. Fighter taking on an Albatros D.II biplane, depicting similar planes and fights with Baron von Richthofen's "Flying Circus." In a tradition dating from 1917, all pilots from the Flying Circus displayed some red coloring to show their solidarity with their leader, whose triplane was completely red.