

NIGHT BOMBER

Introduced in 1917, the four-engined Zeppelin Staaken R.VI was mainly used for night bombing raids on London. It was unusual in its day for having a fully enclosed cabin, but during bomb runs the commander stood in the open observation post in the nose.