

STORMING THE WINTER PALACE

In October, the Bolsheviks launched the second revolution of 1917, this time against the unpopular provisional government. They stormed the Winter Palace in Petrograd (above), and seized the capital. The communist takeover of Russia had begun.