

HAWK

EAGLE

ASGARD

High up and in the centre of the tree is Asgard, home to the Aesir gods.

BIFROST

MIDGARD

Radiating out from the tree's centre is Midgard, the world of humans. It is connected to Asgard by the Rainbow Bridge – Bifrost.

NIDAVELLIR

Nidavellir is where the dwarfs toil at their fires and smelting pots.

NIFLHEIM

The dark world of mist and ice has a name meaning "world of fog".

MUSPELHEIM

Muspelheim is Niflheim's opposite – a realm of fire and smoke.

STAGS

Four stags feed on leaves from the top branches.

WELL OF URD

This is the meeting place of the gods.

THE THREE NORNS

Yggdrasil is looked after by three wise women called the Norns.

Every day they mix mud using water from the Well of Urd, which they smear onto the tree to repair it. The well water is so powerful it turns anything it touches as white as the inside of an eggshell. Without the Norns' constant care, Yggdrasil will die.

JOTUNHEIM

This is the land of the giants.

SVARTALEAHEIM

Svartalfheim is the home of the dark, dusky elves.

MIMIR'S WELL

This well gives wisdom to anyone who drinks from it.

SOL

Sol drives the Sun's chariot across the sky, pursued by the wolf, Sköll.
