

GODS AND GODDESSES

The gods and goddesses of Norse mythology are a varied bunch. Each character has a unique personality, with good points, but with flaws and weaknesses too. Although often skilful, powerful and sometimes able to wield magic, they are not immortal. Baldr dies, and all the gods fear the coming of Ragnarök.

THE AESIR GODS

The Aesir represent power and warfare. They live in Asgard and see it as their job to maintain order in the cosmos. They mostly do this by fighting the Frost Giants, their arch enemies who stand for darkness and disorder.
