

YMIR

From this being all other giants came, springing from his armpits and legs. Yet, when Odin killed Ymir, nearly all his giant offspring were drowned in the blood that ran from his wounds. Odin made the cosmos from Ymir's remains.

Surtr is the ferocious leader of the Fire Giants. He wields a blazing sword and wreaks great destruction during Ragnarök.

Aegir and Ran are husband and wife. They live in a magnificent hall under the sea, and sometimes entertain the gods there. Their nine children are spirits of the waves.

Skadi is a giantess who lives in the snow-capped mountains of Jotunheim. She's a fierce warrior and loves to ski.

Sköll and Hati are no ordinary wolves. They surge across the skies with a dreadful aim: to swallow the Sun and Moon.

Fenrir was adopted by the Aesir. However, they cruelly chained him up when they became frightened of his strength.

Garmr is the fearsome wolf that guards the gates into Niflheim, preventing the living from entering and the dead from escaping.

