

DISIR

Disir means “ladies”. These female spirits are closely connected to fate and destiny. They can be kind or hostile to humans. Disir were sometimes adopted by Norse families and clans to be their guardian.

VALKYRIES

The Valkyries are female spirits who fly over battlefields and select the fallen warriors worthy of sitting with Odin in the halls of Valhalla. Once their choice is made, the Valkyrie lifts the warrior up and carries him away to become one of the Einherjar.

SPIRITS

The Norse believed that strange and powerful spirits hovered over battlefields, accompanied travellers on long journeys, and were even present at the birth of every child. There were invisible forces everywhere and spirits who controlled the fate of people, bestowing luck, both good and bad.

THE NORNS

Norns are all-powerful and all-knowing female spirits. A Norn is present at the birth of every human, and they are there to decide that person's fate. Evil Norns choose a bad future for the human, while good Norns choose a prosperous one. The three Norns living under Yggdrasil will decide when Ragnarök begins.
