

THE NORNS

THE THREE BEINGS OF FATE

The Norns are three wise females who live near the Well of Urd among the roots of the World Tree, Yggdrasil. Their names are Urd, Verdandi and Skuld. These beings know the magical secrets of the rune letters and keep the World Tree healthy. The Norns are even more powerful than the gods, because they control fate and so the lives of all living things.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

URD means
“fate” or “destiny”

VERDANDI means
“becoming” or “being”

SKULD means “future”

CALL OF THE COCKEREL

Each morning, the Norns place a cockerel on the topmost branch of Yggdrasil. Its crow serves as a wake-up call for the gods and goddesses of Asgard.

THREADS OF FATE

The Norns have the power to decide the fate of all beings and have various methods of doing this. They use a spindle to spin and weave patterns into cloth. They carve runes into the World Tree's bark, and they cast wooden lots.
