

Thor Goes Fishing

Thor was always on the lookout for adventure. One day, he set out to explore Jotunheim – the land of the giants.

After walking a great distance, Thor became hungry, so he knocked on the door of a friendly giant called Hymir and asked if he could stay the night.

“Of course,” Hymir boomed. “You are welcome here!”

Hymir was a generous host, and he slaughtered three of his best bulls to feed Thor. However, the god was such an ungracious guest that he gobbled them up in one sitting.

Hymir stared at his bone-strewn dinner table.

“We’ll have to go fishing tomorrow to re-stock my larder,” he said at last.

The next morning, Thor woke early to find Hymir already up and preparing his boat.

“We’ll need some bait,” said the giant. So Thor killed the biggest of Hymir’s remaining bulls and tore off its head – the Thunder God really was a terrible guest.

The giant Hymir gave Thor a magnificent feast.

