

Plants for productive patios

TREE SMALL

Fig

Ficus carica This tree has lobed glossy foliage and pear-shaped summer fruits. In cooler areas, select hardier cultivars like 'Brown Turkey' and 'Chicago Hardy'; protect in winter. Grow in soil-based potting mix. Considered invasive in some areas.

↑10ft (3m) ↔12ft (4m)

☪ Z6–9

PERENNIAL LARGE

Fennel

Foeniculum vulgare This tall upright perennial has ferny aromatic leaves that taste and smell of anise. Edible seeds follow the clusters of tiny yellow summer flowers. Plant in a large pot; use it as a foil for other plants. Considered invasive in some areas.

↑6ft (1.8m) ↔18in (45cm)

☪ Z4–9

PERENNIAL SMALL

Everbearing strawberry

Fragaria x ananassa This perennial has mildly flavored summer fruits and a second smaller crop into fall. Plant in windowboxes, pots, or growing bags; water and feed well. Everbearing cultivars bear continuous crop throughout the growing season.

↑12in (30cm) ↔indefinite

☪ Z4–8

PERENNIAL SMALL

Junebearing strawberry

Fragaria x ananassa This variety of strawberry gives a single crop of fruits, which have a rich sweet flavor, from early- to midsummer. Ideal for containers that can be moved from view after cropping. Water and feed regularly.

↑12in (30cm) ↔20in (50cm)

☪ Z4–8

PERENNIAL SMALL

Alpine strawberry

Fragaria vesca This strawberry plant has a compact habit. Throughout summer, it bears tiny bright red fruits, which have an intense sweet flavor. It is ideal for containers and windowboxes. Water and feed regularly.

↑12in (30cm) ↔indefinite

☪ Z5–9 (N)

ANNUAL/BIENNIAL SMALL

Lettuce

Lactuca sativa Sown or planted in spring and summer, this small leafy crop can be picked young as "cut-and-come-again" leaves or left to mature into full heads. Many colors and leaf textures are available; water the plants regularly.

↑↔12in (30cm)

☪

TREE MEDIUM

Bay laurel

Laurus nobilis This evergreen tree produces dark green aromatic leaves that can be clipped into stunning shapes to create topiary. Grow it in a sheltered area. Use the leaves to flavor stews and casseroles.

↑40ft (12m) ↔30ft (10m)

☪ Z8–10

TREE SMALL

Cooking apple

Malus domestica This small tree bears large fruits from summer to fall. Choose trees grafted onto dwarfing rootstocks to limit their size. Plant in a large container of soil-based potting mix; feed and water regularly from spring to summer.

↑25ft (8m) ↔6ft (2m) in a pot

☪ Z4–8

TREE SMALL

Dessert apple

Malus domestica This tree bears fruits from late summer to fall. Choose trees grafted onto dwarfing rootstocks. Plant in a large container of soil-based potting mix; feed and water regularly. You may need a pollinizer variety.

↑20ft (6m) ↔6ft (2m) in a pot

☪ Z4–8

PERENNIAL SMALL

Lemon balm

Melissa officinalis This herb has toothed and textured green leaves that emit a rich lemon scent when crushed. 'Aurea' (above) has bright gold-marked leaves. It is considered invasive in some areas.

↑↔18in (45cm)

☪ Z4–9

PERENNIAL MEDIUM

Sweet basil

Ocimum basilicum A bushy annual or short-lived perennial with fragrant, bright green leaves and pink summer flower spikes. Add the leaves to salads or other dishes. Grow it in pots; water and feed well, and harvest regularly.

↑24in (60cm) ↔12in (30cm)

☪ Z9–11

PERENNIAL MEDIUM

Purple basil

Ocimum basilicum* var. *purpurascens A bushy annual or short-lived perennial with aromatic purple leaves, which can be used in savoury dishes and salads. 'Dark Opal' (above) has pink-purple flowers in summer. Water and feed well, and pick regularly.

↑24in (60cm) ↔12in (30cm)

☪ Z9–11