

PERENNIAL SMALL

Chamomile

Chamaemelum nobile A mat-forming evergreen perennial with aromatic finely divided leaves and white daisy-like flowers from late spring to summer. Infuse the flowers in boiling water to make a soothing tea.

↑ 4in (10cm) ↔ 18in (45cm)

☹ Z5–9

PERENNIAL LARGE

Chicory

Cichorium intybus A wild form of salad vegetable, this is an upright perennial with tiny green foliage and blue summer blooms. Use its leaves and flowers in salads, and the ground roots to make a coffee substitute. Considered invasive in some areas.

↑ 4ft (12m) ↔ 18in (45cm)

☹ ⚠ Z4–8

BULB SMALL

Saffron crocus

Crocus sativus This fall-flowering perennial bulb has saucer-shaped, purple dark-veined flowers with bright red stigmas that yield saffron. The flowers appear just before the grasslike leaves emerge. Plant the bulbs in late summer.

↑ 2in (5cm)

☹ Z6–8

PERENNIAL LARGE

Fennel

Foeniculum vulgare This tall upright perennial bears aromatic fernlike leaves that taste of anise, and clusters of tiny yellow flowers followed by edible seeds. Add the seeds to salads and other dishes. Considered invasive in some areas.

↑ 6ft (1.8m) ↔ 18in (45cm)

☹ Z4–9

SHRUB SMALL

English lavender

Lavandula angustifolia A bushy evergreen subshrub with aromatic, slim silvery gray leaves. In summer, it produces spikes of small, fragrant violet-blue flowers. May also be used in cooking; use the flowers in potpourri.

↑ 32in (80cm) ↔ 24in (60cm)

☹ Z5–8

PERENNIAL LARGE

Lovage

Levisticum officinale A tall upright perennial with celery-flavored divided leaves and flat heads of tiny yellow flowers in summer. The leaves and stems can be used to flavor dishes such as soups and stews.

↑ 4ft (1.2m) ↔ 3ft (1m)

☹ Z4–7

PERENNIAL MEDIUM

Hyssop

Hyssopus officinalis This upright perennial has aromatic leaves that smell and taste of anise, and spikes of fluffy lavender-blue summer flowers, attractive to bees and butterflies. Use the leaves to make tea and to flavor various dishes.

↑ 24in (60cm) ↔ 3ft (1m)

☹ Z4–9

ANNUAL/BIENNIAL SMALL

Cilantro

Coriandrum sativum A small annual herb, easily grown from seed, with rounded, green aromatic leaves. The leaves, stems, and seeds are all commonly used in cooking. Keep it well watered to prevent bolting.

↑ 20in (50cm) ↔ 8in (20cm)

☹

TREE MEDIUM

Bay laurel

Laurus nobilis An evergreen tree with aromatic dark green leaves that can be clipped into shapes to create topiary. Grow it in a sheltered site, and use the leaves to flavor stews and casseroles.

↑ up to 40ft (12m) ↔ up to 30ft (10m)

☹ Z8–10

PERENNIAL SMALL

Spear-mint

Mentha spicata A spreading perennial with aromatic, textured green foliage and pink summer flowers. Infuse the leaves to make tea or use to flavor savoury dishes. Grow in a pot to stop the roots from spreading. Considered invasive in most areas.

↑ 20in (50cm) ↔ indefinite

☹ Z4–7