

SHRUB SMALL

Cotoneaster horizontalis

ROCKSPRAY Best trained against a wall at the back of a narrow bed, this spreading, deciduous shrub produces stems in a "herringbone" pattern, which are dotted with red berries from fall to early winter, before they fall or are eaten by birds.

↑ 3ft (1m) ↔ 5ft (1.5m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z4-7

SHRUB MEDIUM

Edgeworthia chrysantha

PAPER BUSH Given a sheltered site, this deciduous shrub will produce a beautiful display of fragrant, tubular yellow flowers covered in silky white hairs from late winter to early spring. The dark green oval leaves follow in spring.

↑ 5ft (1.5m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z8-10

SHRUB LARGE

Cornus mas

CORNELIAN CHERRY Grow this deciduous shrub or small tree at the back of a bed, with its rounded clusters of tiny yellow blooms, where it will transform a drab late winter scene. Oval green leaves and edible red fruits follow.

↑ 15ft (5m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z4-8

SHRUB LARGE

Daphne bholua

PAPER DAPHNE Ideal for the back of a bed, this evergreen shrub has oval, leathery green leaves and fragrant white late winter flowers, flushed purple-pink, followed by black berries. Best in West Coast gardens. 'Jacqueline Postill' (above) has pink flowers.

↑ 10ft (3m) ↔ 5ft (1.5m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z7-9

SHRUB SMALL

Erica carnea

WINTER HEATH Plant this small evergreen shrub at the front of a bed or in a pot of acidic soil mix on a patio where it will add color from winter to spring with its needlelike dark green leaves and spikes of tiny pink, red, or white flowers.

↑ 12in (30cm) ↔ 18in (45cm) or more

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z5-7

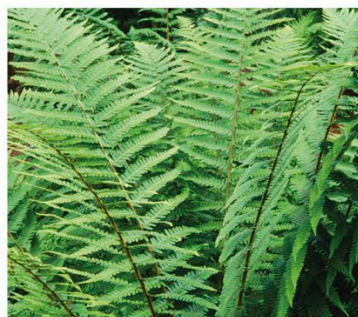

SHRUB LARGE

Cornus sanguinea

BLOODTWIG DOGWOOD The foliage of this deciduous shrub, grown for its reddish green stems, shows good fall color. 'Midwinter Fire' has bright orange-yellow and red winter shoots. Prune old stems to the ground in late winter.

↑ 10ft (3m) ↔ 8ft (2.5m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z4-7

PERENNIAL MEDIUM

Dryopteris affinis

GOLDEN MALE FERN This evergreen fern's "shuttlecock" of tall, lance-shaped, divided, pale green fronds, which mature to dark green, make a decorative addition to winter beds beneath trees and shrubs. Cut off old growth in early spring.

↑ 3ft (1m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z5-8

BULB MEDIUM

Galanthus nivalis

SNOWDROP Allow this perennial bulb to spread through beds where its small, nodding white flowers, with green markings on some varieties, will appear among grassy gray-green leaves in late winter. Plant it in groups after flowering in spring.

↑ 6in (15cm)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z3-8

SHRUB MEDIUM

Cornus sericea

TWIG DOGWOOD This deciduous shrub is grown for its colorful red winter stems, yellow-green in varieties such as 'Flaviramea' (above). Cut old stems to the ground in late winter to encourage colorful new growth. It also has fiery fall leaves.

↑ 6ft (2m) ↔ 12ft (4m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z2-8 (N)

SHRUB LARGE

Garrya elliptica

SILK-TASSEL BUSH This dense evergreen shrub has leathery, wavy-edged gray-green foliage and gray-green midwinter to early spring catkins. Plant it in a sheltered area against a wall or fence; prune when the catkins fade. Best in West Coast gardens.

↑ 12ft (4m)

☀ ☀ ☀ ☀ Z8-11 (N)