

PERENNIAL SMALL

Celosia argentea 'Fairy Fountains'

COCKSCOMB This perennial, sold as annual bedding plant, brightens up beds with its large, plumelike, fluffy hot-colored summer flower heads that appear above pale green lance-shaped leaves. ± 12 in (30cm)

TREE SMALL

Cercis canadensis 'Forest Pansy'

EASTERN REDBUD This deciduous spreading small tree or shrub is grown for its heart-shaped purple leaves that turn yellow in fall and make a fiery feature in the garden. Pale pink pealike flowers appear in mid-spring. ± 15 ft (5m)

SHRUB SMALL

Chaenomeles x superba

FLOWERING QUINCE Heat up the color of a late-spring garden with this spiny deciduous shrub. Its orange, white, pink, or red cup-shaped flowers clothe the stems before the leaves unfurl. For a burst of orange-red, choose 'Crimson and Gold' (above). ± 3 ft (1m) $\leftrightarrow 6$ ft (2m)

TREE SMALL

Cordyline australis

CABBAGE PALM Use this palmlike evergreen tree, with sword-shaped green- or purple-shaded leaves, as an accent plant in a brightly colored flower scheme. Grow on a patio in a tall container to accommodate its taproot, and overwinter indoors. ± 10 ft (3m) $\leftrightarrow 3$ ft (1m)

SHRUB LARGE

Cotinus 'Grace'

SMOKE TREE Plant this large deciduous shrub at the back of a bed where it will create a blaze of fiery red oval leaves in fall. This variety has rich purple leaves in summer; other forms produce green or pale yellow summer foliage. ± 20 ft (6m) $\leftrightarrow 15$ ft (5m)

PERENNIAL MEDIUM

Crocsmia x crocosmiiflora

MONTBRETIA This perennial's arching, sword-shaped green leaves and trumpet-shaped summer to fall flowers are perfect for hot-hued borders. Try the golden 'Star of the East' (above) with orange-yellow blooms. Considered invasive in some coastal regions. ± 28 in (70cm) $\leftrightarrow 3$ in (8cm)

PERENNIAL MEDIUM

Crocsmia 'Lucifer'

MONTBRETIA A clump-forming perennial with tubular red late summer flowers that inject fiery color into beds. Other varieties have flowers in bright oranges, yellows, or reds. The architectural sword-shaped leaves are a bonus. Can be weedy. ± 3 ft (1m) $\leftrightarrow 10$ in (25cm)

SHRUB SMALL

Cuphea ignea

CIGAR FLOWER A subshrub, grown as an annual, with black-tipped red flowers that shine all summer from among the green lance-shaped leaves, making a decorative bed edging or feature in containers of potting mix. Thrives in sun and part shade. ± 30 in (75cm) $\leftrightarrow 3$ ft (1m)

BULB LARGE

Dahlia 'Bishop of Llandaff'

DAHLIA Few flowers can outshine the red semidouble flowers of this popular tuber. The smoldering dark foliage provides the perfect foil for the fiery blooms. Plant the tubers outside after threats of frosts; may need staking. ± 3 ft (1m)

BULB LARGE

Dahlia 'Fire pot'

WATERLILY DAHLIA The flowers of this bulb, grown from spring-planted tubers, sport a blend of sizzling pink and orange with a dash of yellow in the center. Use it to brighten up the back of a bed or in a large patio container of soil-based potting mix. ± 3 ft (1m)
