

PERENNIAL SMALL

Geranium x oxonianum

CRANESBILL This vigorous spreading evergreen perennial covers large areas with its divided, toothed green leaves and rounded pink flowers which appear from late spring to midsummer. 'Wargrave Pink' (above) is a popular variety.

↑18in (45cm) ↔24in (60cm)

☹ ☀ ☀ Z4–8

PERENNIAL MEDIUM

Hosta sieboldiana

PLANTAIN LILY This perennial forms spreading clumps that shade the soil and suppress the surrounding weeds. It has large gray-blue leaves and flowers briefly in early summer, bearing spikes of pale lilac-gray bell-shaped blooms. Protect from slugs.

↑3ft (1m) ↔4ft (1.2m)

☹ ☀ Z3–9

SHRUB SMALL

Hypericum calycinum

AARON'S BEARD This dwarf vigorous evergreen shrub forms a dense carpet of dark green leaves on arching stems and, from midsummer to mid-fall, bright yellow flowers. Ideal for sun or shade, use it to cover large areas.

↑24in (60cm) ↔indefinite

☹ ☀ ☀ Z5–9

SHRUB SMALL

Juniperus horizontalis

CREeping JUNIPER Providing year-round ground cover, this creeping evergreen conifer has scaly blue-green foliage that can suppress even perennial weeds. Ideal for covering large areas of ground. 'Bar Harbor' has purple-tinted winter foliage.

↑20in (50cm) ↔indefinite

☹ ☀ ☀ Z3–9 (N)

PERENNIAL SMALL

Persicaria affinis* 'Superba'

KNOTWEED This vigorous perennial forms a dense mat of oval green leaves and, from early- to late summer, upright spikes of soft pink blooms that darken with age. Useful for the front of a bed, it is quick-growing and may need restricting on smaller plots.

↑10in (25cm) ↔24in (60cm)

☹ ☀ ☀ Z3–8

PERENNIAL SMALL

Lamium maculatum

SPOTTED DEADNETTLE This mat-forming ground-cover perennial has spikes of white flowers from late spring to summer. 'White Nancy' (above) has silver-variegated leaves. Considered invasive in some Northwest and Northeast areas. Grow beneath large shrubs.

↑6in (15cm) ↔3ft (1m)

☹ ☀ ☀ Z4–8

PERENNIAL SMALL

Nepeta racemosa

CATMINT This spreading perennial forms a clump of lax stems covered with aromatic gray-green leaves and violet-blue flower spikes in summer. Use it at the front of a bed for colorful ground cover. 'Walker's Low' (above) is a popular variety.

↑12in (30cm) ↔18in (45cm)

☹ ☀ Z4–8

PERENNIAL SMALL

Phlox subulata

CREeping PHLOX This trailing evergreen perennial has needlelike green foliage and pink, white, or mauve star-shaped flowers in summer. Ideal for sunny sites where low-growing ground cover is needed. 'Emerald Pink' (above) has soft pink flowers.

↑6in (15cm) ↔20in (50cm)

☹ ☀ Z3–9 (N)

SHRUB SMALL

Potentilla fruticosa

CINQUEFOIL A compact shrub with divided green leaves and small yellow, white, red, pink, or orange flowers, depending on the variety, from summer to fall. Plant in groups in part-shade and allow to merge. 'Goldfinger' (above) has yellow flowers.

↑3ft (1m) ↔5ft (1.5m)

☹ ☀ ☀ Z2–7 (N)

PERENNIAL SMALL

Pulmonaria angustifolia

BLUE LUNGWORT This perennial forms a clump of matte green leaves and clusters of rich blue trumpet-shaped spring blooms. Useful for spring color, plant at the front of bed near other plants for later interest. New foliage appears in summer.

↑9in (23cm) ↔12in (30cm) or more

☹ ☀ ☀ Z3–7