

Pests and plagues

Insects are small but they can do a huge amount of damage. It may be hard to believe, but these are some of the most dangerous creatures alive.

Cockroaches have tough bodies and are very difficult to kill.

Unwanted guests

Once cockroaches move into your home they are very difficult to get rid of. They eat rotten food and spread diseases around the house. They also make a house smell.

Cockroach

Turn and learn

Tiny animals that live on your body and can make you ill:
pp. 140-141

Some more pests

Humans have a hard time controlling pests. For thousands of years, we have been trying to find ways to get rid of them.

Colorado beetle: this little beetle can destroy entire potato fields.

Common clothes moth: these moths love to eat woollen clothes.

Longhorned beetle: these beetles can destroy entire forests.

Head lice

The head louse is a tiny insect that grips onto your hair so tightly that it is tricky to remove. It drinks blood from your head and makes your scalp itchy. Its eggs are called nits.

Close-up of a headlouse's claws.