

Exotic flyers

Tropical rainforests and places with warm climates are filled with exotic and colourful birds, which are often very large.

This species of toucan lives in the top of the rainforest canopy.

Chestnut-eared aracari

The toucan uses its massive bill to reach for fruits on the tips of branches.

Although the bill looks heavy, it is hollow and, therefore, very light.

Toucan

Toucans have two toes facing forwards and two facing backwards on each foot.

Toucans

These birds live in the South American rainforest and surrounding areas. They are famous for their huge bills.

Birds of paradise

These exotic birds are from Papua New Guinea. This raggiana bird of paradise is showing off his beautiful feathers to a female by opening his wings and shaking them at her.
