

5 Mix cadmium yellow, cerulean blue, and French ultramarine with the first green mix from step 4 and paint a soft line across the green background. Add more cerulean blue to the green mix and paint a wash in the foreground, to soften it. Paint a wash of cadmium yellow over the background.

LAYERING

It is easier to control the edges of colors when painting wet on dry. Make sure the areas you paint over are dry, to keep the colors clean and bright.

6 Mix French ultramarine, burnt umber, and alizarin crimson together, then build up layers from gray to black on the geese's heads and necks, using the No. 5 brush.
