

SOCIAL MEDIA MAKES IT EASY

It is now easier than ever before for organizations to gather data about their competitors. Social media can provide data on customer preferences, brands, and campaigns of other organizations. Analytical tools are available to simplify benchmarking across many different channels.

49%

of companies across 44 countries used performance benchmarking in 2008

