

KELLAR

► Seeing is believing

One of Kellar's most famous illusions, "The Levitation of Princess Karnac," involved a hidden hydraulic lifting device under the "levitating" woman. Kellar's panache as a performer was key to the illusion's success—the audience had to believe.